

From Faith to Faith

Granbury Street Church of Christ

Gospel Meeting with Rick Popejoy

Rick has been married to Mrs. Mona for 33 years. Together they have four children and six grandchildren. Rick graduated from the Brown Trail School of Preaching in 1984 and has been preaching for 30 years in Texas, Oklahoma and Wyoming.

He presently serves the 9th & Main Church of Christ in San Angelo, Texas as a shepherd and a preacher. Rick is also an instructor for the Online Academy of Biblical Studies where he teaches Freshman - First Principles and Junior - The Prophetic book of Jeremiah.

He directs campaigns where he leads a team of workers from several states in evangelistic door knocking campaigns every year. He conducts seminars on the family, leadership, teaching, and evangelism. He is the former editor of Reflections, a bi-monthly publication with a subscription of 62,000. He has authored numerous articles for publication and submitted chapters for at least eight books. He is the co-host of a daily radio program entitled, Reflections upon the precious book divine that can be heard on The Gospel Radio Network (M-F, 11:30 AM - 12:30 PM). He is also the co-host of a new weekly television program entitled, Renew, seen on Suddenlink channel 9 every Sunday morning at 8:00 AM in San Angelo, Texas.

Rick also works part time for a private, non-profit foundation as a research analyst and serves as a board member for Tullstar.

No Single Act - Part Three

Kevin W. Rhodes

The number remains far too high of those who, like ancient Israel, “draw near to Me with their mouth, And honor Me with their lips, But their heart is far from Me. And in vain they worship Me, Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt. 15:8–9). Sadly, many today live the pretense of Christianity because they only have the pretense of reverence for God. They offer the words but lack the heart. That is not to say that they are emotionally detached; they are just emotionally attached to the wrong things. They feel like they love God, but they have not yet deepened that feeling to an abiding reverence for His holiness.

If we want life with God in eternity, we must live life for God in time. This is not a life lived by a checklist; it is a life lived by integrating God’s commands into our lives so much that it becomes our lifestyle (1 Jn. 2:3). As Jesus Himself said, “If you love Me, keep My commandments” (John 14:15). Thus, if you would live for Christ, your speech should not be something you constantly have to check; it should be something that you permanently change. “Can a fig tree, my brethren, bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs? Thus no spring yields both salt water and fresh” (Jas.

3:12). Your worship should become an outgrowth of your love for God and love for truth (Jn. 4:24) instead of a chore or some cheap entertainment. A good life lived for God does not have to turn on spirituality Sunday morning because its light shines brightly all the time (Mt. 5:14-16). And all of this goodness, all of this living, is founded upon the grace of God, without which it would be meaningless (Eph. 2:8-10).

God wants so much for us. But for us to enjoy all that He offers, we must be willing to do what He requires. The greatest relationship available in eternity cannot be a one-sided affair. God knows what we can do. He knows what we can become. He knows what we have to offer. He knows our limitations, but He also knows our possibilities. He knows, because He created us. Thus, He never asks anything of us which we are not perfectly capable of fulfilling. He did not do so for Jesus, and He will not do so for us. Therefore, my friends, if we approach Jesus with low expectations for ourselves spiritually—low expectations for our growth, low expectations for our involvement, and low expectations for our commitment—we do not understand Jesus, and we do not understand discipleship.
